

THE FBI ACADEMY In ACTION

The Federal Bureau of Investigation's National Academy, at Quantico, Va., grew out of a dream, and a belief. The dream: that democratic government can be administered simply and efficiently. The belief: that cooperating law-enforcement agencies can reduce and repress crime to a greater degree, if all the agencies have access to the latest-available information and techniques.

Since the Academy's founding on July 29, 1935, over 5,000 law-enforcement officers from throughout the nation, as well as from several foreign countries, have been graduated. Two 12-week training sessions are held each year. These involve long hours of hard work, intense concentration, gymnasium workouts, firearms practice, and attention to many details.

Only a limited number of candidates can physically attend the Academy's extremely intensified program at any given time. Thus, the over-all goal is to qualify all graduates as instructors and executives. So they, in turn, can set up their own training programs on the local level, and instruct their associates in the Academy's latest methods.

An expansion program has just recently been announced. Commencing in 1969, three-month courses will be made available to 1,200 officers a year, against the 200 currently.

Some of the subjects taught are criminal investigation, fingerprint identification, laboratory aids, police administration and organization, firearms and ballistics, defense techniques, physics and chemistry (as police aids), photography, and evidence preservation.

Appropriate instruction is further provided in: criminal law, education, government, public speaking, applied psychology, sociology, and other physical sciences.

All in all, a very hardy course of instruction and training. For the very hardy police, whose function it is to "guard civil rights, protect the weak, and defend the innocent" of the United States of America—the FBI's sacred trust.

IDENTIFICATION: Special Agent dusts fingerprints.

PRACTICE-PERFECT: Special Agent checks form.

FIREARMS VAULT: Gunsmith takes inventory.

SELF-DEFENSE: Training class watches, does, learns.

QUALITY CONTROL: Gunsmith studies firing-pin.

BANK ROBBERY: Class work in actual cases.

LECTURE ROOM: Study is imperative.

Way to Beauty

NEW YORK — (NEA) — If you're the girl who has spent years coaxing, cajoling and persuading a mooney mop to flop beautifully, then you are among 40 per cent of American women.

But to a bride there's little consolation in knowing her hair problem is not unique.

Fly-away, limp and thin-feeling hair won't do a thing to enhance the gown she chose with such care.

But with a little advance planning, the help of an expert hairstylist and the use of a body-building cream rinse you can control and tame unruly tresses into a cap of smooth beauty.

A few weeks before your wedding day discuss your hair problems with your hairstylist.

Experiment with various styles and try them with your bridal headpiece. But keep it simple. Neither fussiness nor sophistication should be part of the bridal look.

Test the staying power of each style. Check your side and back views.

A new cream rinse with protein to give body and fullness to fine hair may help considerably.

A BAND OF HAIR drawn across the head above bangs is a flattering setting for the bride's coronet and veil. Sleek, close to the head styles like this one used to be difficult for fine, hard to manage hair. FALL GUY HAS
TOO MANY FEET

Dear Helen: My friends have nicknamed me "Jinx." I walk into doors and walls, fall over desks, benches, tables, my feet. I must be accident prone as I've passed my awkward age — I'm 15. Is there anything I can do, because I hate it when people yell, "Boy, keep away from me — there's the wall to bounce off." OR "How's your extra foot?" OR "Hi, fall-guy!" Please Help. — Jinx

Dear Jinx: I wouldn't hurt to have a thorough physical check up. I doubt that you're suffering from anything more than self-conscious clumsiness (brought on by poor coordination and not thinking ahead) but it's best to be sure.

Many 15-year-olds haven't yet outgrown the awkward age — and teasing prolongs it. Your friends are about as funny as a tin can on a dog's tail, and they deserve a swift kick — with your extra foot — H.

Dear Helen: I am a girl of 12. Where I live all the girls are too young or too old. I'm big for my age, and look about 14 or more. The older girls are mad at me because the boys like me. I do my best to keep away from them but it's no use. When they ask me for dates I always say "No" and walk away. The girls near my age don't like me because I don't look like them. I want girl friends, but I'm like an outcast. Will anything help? — D.N.H.

Dear D: Yes, honey, time will help — probably no more than six months of it, when some of your age group starts catching up with you. It's a shame, but an early developer almost always creates jealousy and uneasiness among girls.

To "get even" for this unfair treatment she may go boy-crazy — after all THEY appreciate her. And this can be dangerous, for she is still a "little girl" in a "big girl's" body.

I'm glad you've got better sense, D.N.H. Stay friendly, ignore the slights, act your age, and very soon you'll be popular with both sexes. — H.

JUNIOR HIGH
SHOW-OFFS

Dear Helen: My dumb junior high school brothers have taken up smoking. I try to tell them it's just show-off and they look nothing but silly — kind of like little girls dressing up in their mothers' high heels. But they think they're big men, and they even brag about having the habit, so they can't quit. I don't see how you can get a cigarette when you only sneak a couple a day. I don't want to be a flunk and tell my folks, so maybe YOU can tell junior hi kids how they look when they smoke. — Big Sister

Dear Sister: Be glad to. A cigarette in the mouth of a junior high schooler pegs him as a "childish little punk" — not so much by grown-ups as by high school students: the very people he is trying to impress with his "manliness." Like the 12-year-old girl who slathers on make-up, the more he reaches for age, the younger he appears. Get this across to your brother.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)

Presenting — "Taming of the Shrew," starring the movies' highest-paid, most popular couple, she in her first Shakespearean role.

Does that sound like Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton in their latest film? Yes, but the description also fits a movie that was made 37 years ago and soon will be seen once more by film audiences.

On Nov. 4, the Mary Pickford-Douglas Fairbanks version of the Shakespeare comedy will open an engagement at the Tivoli Plaza Theater in West Los Angeles. Micky Kemp, who oversees the Pickford film interests, explained how it came about.

"The whole thing started last year when the Cinematheque Francaise in Paris wanted to have a retrospective tribute to Mary. At first she was reluctant to accept. She had bought up as many of her old films as she could find and held onto them jealously. She said that she had pleased her own generation and she wanted the films to be destroyed at her death.

"But many people, including myself, convinced her that the films should be preserved, since the history of the motion picture could not be told without including her. She agreed to the Paris invitation, and I put together a show that included portions of 26 films, from 'The New York Hat' with D. W. Griffith (1910) to 'Secrets' (1933).

"The response from the Parisians was phenomenal. After the 'Taming of the Shrew' sequence they rose for a standing ovation.

"Mary was amazed. The next day in her hotel room she said, 'I can't believe it; they liked 'The Shrew.' She never had. She didn't want to do the movie; it was all Doug's idea."

But she went ahead with the film, her first talkie and the only movie she ever made with Fairbanks. Sam Taylor directed and edited the script, leading to the immortal credit line: "Play by William Shakespeare, additional dialogue by Sam Taylor." The movie cost $1.3 million, a monumental amount in those days. It was not a commercial success, the market for Shakespeare being considerably smaller than it is today.

First Nobel prize for medicine was awarded to Dr. Emil A. von Behring for work on a serum therapy against diphtheria.

The Boutique

NEW YORK — (NEA) — It's a long look back to the days when a woman bragged about being a "perfect 16—no alterations."

Today even a size 8 is thought a trifle full-blown and can't touch size 6 for chic. And if the gal who needs a formal for the town's biggest "do" wears over size 14 I hope she can sew.

Today, when vitamins and balanced meals are producing a stronger, more solidly built race, the fashion industry refuses to recognize the existence (and certainly the right to be chic) of anyone bigger than a button.

A few years ago at the New York Historical Society there was an exhibit of clothes worn in the late 18th and early 19th centuries. These were displayed on life-size figures. But life-size in those days before O.J. (orange juice) was so tiny that a real fashion show with live models couldn't be held. No live girl could fit into the tiny dresses.

Yet here we are in 1966 with all that good food around, dieting down to a size that wouldn't fill the seat of a baby's high chair just so we can find some rag in the stores that says "oomph" instead of a tired "blah."

It's true that since the little girl look came into its own there are some dresses that would look just plain silly even on a size 10 and surely shouldn't be cute in 10. But on the racks of smart designs that could suit a big girl as well as a little one you come to the end of the line at size 12.

Who's to blame for this unrealistic turn of events? I tried to pin down a few designers on the subject but didn't get to first base.

June Frances, whose handsome new line for Claret isn't too young-looking for anyone to wear, has a few 16s.

"We have only a few," she said. "I know nearly all my clothes would look fine in that size but we don't cut them."

I asked why. "Well, the house I work for isn't known for big sizes," was all June could tell me.

Coty Award winner, Don Simonelli, did a handsome knit line for Mia—top size, 13.

"Why no 16s?" I asked again, like a stuck record. He shrugged his big shoulders.

"The designer doesn't control the sizing," he said. "The manufacturer makes that decision and it's based on what the buyers want."

John Mach, who with partner Dix Elliott, designs the beautiful, wearable Court Jester sportswear, said their biggest orders are for sizes 10 and 12, with size 8 a close runner-up.

"Only 10 per cent of the orders are for size 14," he said. "But it's strange that the biggest reorders are in 12s and the buyer when reordering will often ask, 'Do you have just a few 14s?'"

Notice, not a 16 mentioned. So now we've whittled the problem down to where we're supposed to blame the buyers for the dowdy look of all size 16s. But it still, to me, smacks of the chicken and the egg.

If the designers can't think in terms of 16s because the manufacturers won't cut 16s because the buyers won't buy 16s, the one buyer who may have a heart of gold and wants to have well-dressed customers regardless of size is stuck with her good intentions.

High Award for Local Colonel

BERGSTROM AFB, TEX. —

The Nation's second highest award for achievement was presented recently to Col. Frank C. Malone, a native of Emmett, Ark., who commands the 75th Tactical Reconnaissance Wing at Bergstrom AFB, Tex.

Gen. G. P. Disoway, Tactical Air Command commander, presented the Legion of Merit to Colonel Malone at the TAC Commander's Conference held recently at Hurlburt Field, Fla.

Colonel Malone received the award by distinguishing himself through exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service to the United States Air Force while assigned as commander, 66th Tactical Reconnaissance Wing, Laon Air Base, France, from July 13, 1965 to June 23, 1966.

The citation accompanying a ward of the Legion of Merit read, "His exemplary ability, leadership and professional knowledge which were highly instrumental factors in the resolution of many complex problems of major importance to the United States Air Force and the security of our nation."

"The singularly distinctive achievements and dedicated efforts of Colonel Malone in this assignment reflect great credit upon himself and the United States Air Force."

Colonel Malone, 47, has been assigned to Bergstrom AFB since July 1 the date that he assumed command of the 75th TRW, parent organization on the base. Colonel Malone holds a command pilot's rating and has more than 5,000 flying hours to his credit—300 of which are combat flying hours.

Among his decorations are the Distinguished Flying Cross with Oak Leaf Cluster, and the Air Medal with four Oak Leaf Clusters.

The Colonel is married to the former Lucille Hutson of Hope, Ark. They have three children; a married daughter, Mrs. Nancy Anger, a second daughter, Lynda, 18 and a 15-year-old son, Patrick.

QUICK QUIZ

Q—Is one who presides at a public ceremony addressed as "master of ceremonies" regardless of sex?

A—No, a woman who presides at a public ceremony should be addressed as "mistress of ceremonies."

Q—Why is a British seaman called a "limey"?

A—The word "limey" comes from the British Merchant Shipping Act of 1867. A clause in the act made the use of limes to combat scurvy compulsory on all British vessels.

WHAT a tragic figure this man makes! But he never intended to make this picture. The first mile of this road did not look like this. But a great Teacher in the long ago warned him and us that we must choose the path on which we enter. There is one way that looks hard at the first but it "leads to life, and those who find it are few." So many are attracted to 'the other way' that is easy at first, but it leads to destruction, and those who enter it are many.

How necessary that we older folk shall guide wisely the young feet! Shall I "go to heaven" as the goal of my living? Look at my feet this very moment. Which way are they pointing? "Heaven is being on the way to heaven" and heavenly people are journeying there together now. Will my "last mile" be one of pathetic regrets and of sorrowful steps? Shall I leave grief and sorrow in the hearts of those who love me? Now is the time to answer that question. For "Despair is being on the way to despair." Which way did our feet move yesterday? What is the goal we have set before us this day? Your Church Can Help You.

THE last drink will not destroy us, if we had not taken the first. The 'last mile' of hatred and malice will not come to us if we do not allow unkindness and jealousy and envy to creep along with us through the first miles. The end of the way will not be vulgar and vicious unless we have forsaken the path of decency and of integrity further back. Every one of us is choosing this day the road we shall take. "But as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord" and do His will. May this be our resolve today.

YOU IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you" form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCH-GOER and a daily BIBLE READER.

Seek Ye First The Kingdom of God
And His Righteousness;
And All These Things Shall Be Added Unto You.

You Can Do This Best Through Regular Worship At Church. Our Ministers and These Sponsoring Firms Urge You To Attend Your Church Regularly.

LIGHTING UP THE BATTLEFIELD is an increasingly effective technique in night air operations over Viet Nam with the aid of a powerful airborne light source. Providing for the first time a constant, long-lasting light covering a wide area, the system from an altitude of 12,000 feet is capable of illuminating an area two miles in diameter four times brighter than full moonlight. It is shown being tested by a C-123 Air Force transport over Greenville, Tex., where it was developed and produced by Ling-Temco-Vought, Inc.

Upper wisdom teeth were routine extractions and were removed in seconds with forceps. Total time required for extraction of four wisdom teeth: 8 minutes.
Billie awoke shortly after, remembering little of his experience. He remained in the hospital until the next day. He didn't feel too chipper, but his pesky wisdom teeth were gone and wouldn't bother him any more, especially before exams, or the prom, when wisdom teeth usually seem to kick up.
A few days later the stitches were removed. Recovery was uneventful.
This is not meant to be a guide for extraction of wisdom teeth; it's a report of one case in which there were no complications and "all systems were A-O.K."

All six feet of Billie D. covered with a white sheet, lay stretched out on the operating table. He was joking with the nurses while an anesthetist wiped his forearm with antiseptic solution, slid a needle into a vein and slowly injected sodium pen- thothal.
"One hundred, ninety-nine, ninety-eight, ninety . . . That's as far as Billie got. He went to sleep with a smile on his face."
Planned procedure: Extrac- tion of four wisdom teeth.
Operative procedure: Naso- tracheal tube was eased into place. Pharynx was cleared of secretions. Moist packs were placed in back of mouth to prevent debris from getting into lungs. Anesthesia was continued with muscle relaxer and nitrous oxide oxygen.
The two lower wisdom teeth required surgical technique because they were partially embedded in jaw bone. In- cision was made in gum tissue covering lower right wisdom tooth and exposed bone was quickly and easily removed with high-speed, water- powered drill. Field of operation was cleared by stream of water from head of drill and suction tube operated by assistant.
When crown of tooth was fully exposed, a straight chisel was placed on tooth in line with its long axis and an assistant tapped it with a mallet, splitting it in two.
First one, and then the other half were "elevated" out. Tooth socket was cleaned and flap of tissue sewed back to its original position. Time elapsed: 3 1/2 minutes. Lower left tooth was extracted in

THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING

POPPING UP—1967 MISS TEEN-AGE AMERICA: On Nov. 5 Miss Teen-age America for the coming year will be picked and crowned. This miss will be a different kind of beauty bud than the myriad other misses—America, Universe, World, etc. Smaller, perkier, smarter, she'll be more the natural, attractive, average teen-age type. Yes, she'll rake in a $10,000 college scholarship, cars, stock in business, ward- robes . . . and $5,000 cash for personal appearances. But the girl who'll crown the new queen, Colette Daiute, the reigning queen, told us what it was like to win: "I wasn't picked for being a ravishing beauty . . . statuesque or being a slinky sex symbol . . . didn't appear in any bathing suit contest . . . but I did have to have high marks to compete . . . and during the year I was queen school came first; personal appearances were scheduled for weekends and vacation times."

through the toughest machine washing (at the laundry or at home) and hold its finish. The American Institute of Launder- ing which tested the shirt informed YOUTH BEAT:—"This new permanent press is sophisticated wash-and-wear. Because it has a stronger chemical content and an improved crease recovery rate, it can take even thorough commercial laundering without needing ironing."

YOU'RE SWIPING THE YOUNGER SET'S PETS: It's nearly two months till Christmas, but the way you're snatch- ing up those big, kiddie, stuffed toy animals in stores indi- cates that a lot more than reindeer will be coming down chimneys on Dec. 25. A last-minute check among department store buyers reveals that money-happy teen-agers are avidly buying plush 6-foot dogs, cats, bears, lions, snakes and gir- affes. The reason? Probably because you just want to. But also because of the new, more imaginative designs such as designers adapting the big-eye craze to these stuffed pets. One, this year, dreamed up the nonexistent Slob next year he has his sights on the Snark. Manufacturers now blow a polystyrene foam into the innards . . . making bigger animals at less cost per cubic foot . . . prices are down. Girls (till the time they get their college diplomas) are the most eager buyers for themselves . . . and to give to other girls. To boys they send snakes. Boys reciprocate by giving tigers or spoofer dogs (mongrels of mixed-up ances- try) to girls. The toy world is banking on a lot of these big, already house-broken pets ar- riving at homes this Christ- mas—more for teens and post- teens than for the pre-teen set.

MUSIC—THE RHYTHM IS REPEATING ITSELF: New ver- sions of recent and not-so-recent hits are a feature of newest records now swimming up to top popularity. The way back, Rain on the Roof, cut in soft-rock style by the Lovin' Spoon- ul is one. The one-time smash hit, "Louie, Louie," in a lush, warmly harmonious re-do by the Sandpipers is another. And Billy Stewart rocks an infectious revival of the Doris Day standard "Secret Love." Among the brand new ones to be out for, here are two. When She Needs Good Love, So Comes to Me, which will be hitting turntables and air- ways with electric impact . . . and, Deep Deep Pop Pop, an Arizona sensation now spreading East and West with a pop- rock beat.

THE BORN LOSER

By ART SANSOM

The shipworm is not a worm at all but a bivalve mollusk known as the tereido. The damage to wood done by this pest cannot be readily seen on the outer surface. As far back as the second century B.C. the wooden ships of Archimedes of Syracuse were protected from the tereido by sheaths of lead on the outer surface. British ships began using the copper sheathing for the same protection in 1758.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Let's disregard the problem of the merit or lack thereof in West's two spade overcall. Suffice to say, practically all West players in a recent New Orleans tournament did make that bid. Those who were doubled went down three tricks for a 500-point loss and a rather poor score.

The reason was that when North bid three no-trump instead of doubling, West would open the ten of spades and South would win the trick with his queen. After that play there was no way to make the contract because West would get into the lead with both red aces and set up his spades before South could collect more than eight tricks.

overall. His analysis was correct. East could not return a spade and Julius had time to set up both red suits.

Julius was lucky because he was not playing against Dr. Richard Greene. When Dick held the West hand he opened the king of spades, instead of the ten. This left South nowhere to go except down. If South ducked, Dick would still be able to lead another spade. If he won the trick, Dick would get back into the lead with his two red aces.

Bobcats Are Beaten by Magnolia

By Larry Don Wright
Hope Star Sports Editor

The Magnolia Panthers combined a breakaway ground offensive and several well executed pass completions to stave off the outstanding efforts of the Hope Bobcats 20-0 at Southern State College in Magnolia last night.

The Panthers certainly didn't find the going easy, however, as they were only able to drive for one score, that coming on their first possession of the game.

The other two Magnolia touchdowns resulted from a pair of long bombs behind the Hope defensive secondary.

The Bobcat defense rose to the occasion seven times to halt the Panthers within the Bobcat 35-yard line. Two of these were by interceptions and another was by a blocked field goal but the majority, the remaining four can be attributed to nothing short of a whole lot of head knocking in the Bobcat forward wall.

The Cats knew what to do when they got their hands on the ball by marching up and down the field only to be stopped by pass interceptions on three occasions.

All credit shouldn't be given to the Panther offense, therefore, since the defensive squad of Magnolia was equally as stubborn, forcing the Bobcats to punt in eight different situations.

The Panthers tallied early after taking the ball at their own 38 by a Hope punt. They moved the distance of 62 yards in 14 plays to put a TD on the scoreboard with 6:21 still left in the first quarter. Johnny Erwin carried the final 4 yards from his left halfback position for the score. Tackle Chuck Liram booted the extra point to make the score 7-0 for the Panthers.

Both teams fought back and forth the rest of the period with the Cats stopping one Magnolia drive at the 26.

Midway through the second quarter the Panthers began a march from their own 21, after receiving a sensational 61-yard punt off the toe of Bobcat fullback Freddie Easterling.

From there the home team moved almost at will deep into Hope territory to the 8 yard line where a measurement verified a 1 and goal situation from that point.

However, three plays later the Panthers had been moved back to the 9 from where Magnolia QB Mel Davis passed wild incomplete into the end zone for the 4th down.

The Cats punched back another Panther threat in the second quarter before starting a little action of their own. On first down after taking the ball over on downs at the Hope 30, Soph halfback Jerry Don Williams went off tackle 43 yards on a fine double reverse.

Then on the next play with just 26 seconds remaining in the first half the Panthers cut off a Bobcat aerial at the Magnolia 35. On first down Davis chuckled the long bomb to halfback Larry Eddy for a 61 yard touchdown. There was seven seconds left on the clock.

Bobcat John Henley dove in to block Liram's attempt and the Panthers led 13-0 at that point. The Panthers intercepted another play late in the third period to take possession at the Bobcat 35. Two plays later Davis hit Eddy again across the middle for 31 yards and the final touchdown of the night.

Liram kicked true to give the Panthers the extra point and the final margin of victory 20-0. The 4th quarter chapter was chiefly defense with neither team being able to secure a scoring position.

One definite point of achievement was that Easterling's first long point of 61 yards was complemented later in the game by another beauty of 60 yards. Two such punts in a single game is a rare distinction in any football game, whether it be high school or the pros or college. His previous record was 58 yards.

carries. Easterling was next with 33 yards in 8 trips. Mike Westbrook rolled up 16 in 8 and Allen Phillips and Mickey Allen both carried one time for three while Jerry Don Still went 2-2 and Buzz Andrews went 3 for 1.

Spurrier Is Top Passer in Nation

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Louisiana State's football team caps a problem-filled week tonight with another problem — Steve Spurrier.

The Tigers, troubled by alleged bribery attempts that were brought out in the open earlier in the week, must stop Spurrier, one of the nation's top college passers if they hope to halt Florida's unbeaten string at just last Tuesday a Baton Rouge barber was arrested and charged with attempting to bribe three LSU first-string backs — halfbacks Jim Dousay and Billy Masters and fullback Gawnin DiBetta. In disclosing the arrest, the FBI said it had the complete cooperation of the three players.

Whether the Tigers will have Spurrier's complete cooperation is something else.

The 6-foot-2 senior is No. 4 in the country in passing, averaging 186 yards a game and completing a whopping 65 per cent of his passes. He also is eighth in total offense.

The Gators will be out to improve their national ranking — they are eighth — and their Southeastern Conference standings. They are tied for first with Alabama and Georgia.

LSU, on the other hand, hopes to increase its SEC record to 2-0 and its season mark to 4-1-1. In other night games Wichita State is at Arkansas, Texas at Rice, Utah at Arizona, Mississippi State at Florida State, Tulsa at Memphis State and San Jose State at Texas Western.

In a Friday night game, Miami, Fla., defeated Indiana 14-7 in the worst rainstorm to hit a game in the Orange Bowl in five years.

One of the game's 12 fumbles helped set up Miami's winning score. The Hurricanes recovered on the Indiana six and scored on David Olivo's four-yard pass to Jim Cox.

The rest of the members of the Top Ten were on the Saturday afternoon schedule, with four of the teams involved in two games.

Top-ranked Notre Dame sent its sophomore battery of quarterback Terry Hanratty and end Jim Seymour against surprisingly strong Oklahoma, ranked 10th, while Michigan State, No. 2, hosted ninth-ranked Purdue and its prize quarterback, Bob Griese.

Third-ranked UCLA began defense of its AAU title at California, But Southern California, No. 5, had a nonconference game against Clemson.

Alabama, No. 4, took on Vanderbilt at Birmingham, Ala., sixth-ranked Georgia Tech hosted Tulane and Nebraska, No. 7, was at Colorado.

Other major pairings had Pitt at Army, William and Mary at Navy, Penn State at West Virginia, Dartmouth at Harvard, Wisconsin at Ohio State, Minnesota at Michigan, Stanford at Illinois, Oregon at Washington, Southern Methodist at Texas Tech, South Carolina at Tennessee, Kansas at Oklahoma State, Kentucky at Georgia, Texas A&M at Baylor and Texas Christian at Auburn.

Los Angeles Must Win to Be in Race

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Los Angeles must make no mistakes to stay close in the Western Conference race, while St. Louis needs help from Cleveland to pull away in the East in the National Football League.

The Rams, 4-2, are at Chicago, 2-3, and figure it a must game to stay close. Western leader Green Bay, 5-1, is a lopsided favorite over winless Atlanta at Milwaukee.

To stay close, the Rams must stop Gale Sayers. And to do that — as the Packers did last week in a 17-0 victory, "It's a matter of not making any mistakes."

The advice to the Rams came from all-pro defensive end Willie Davis of Green Bay, one of the key figures in containing the Bears' flash.

"Last year, Sayers made the defense make mistakes," Davis said. "This year, we knew what he could do and knew we had to keep him contained. He forces you to play a game of no mistakes."

St. Louis, leading the East at 5-0-1, is at Washington, 3-3, but will have plenty of interest in the Dallas at Cleveland affair. The Cowboys are 4-0-1 after last week's tie with St. Louis, and Cleveland is 3-2 and still very much alive in the East.

In other games, Minnesota, 1-3-1, is at Baltimore, 3-2; Philadelphia, 3-3, at New York, 1-4-1; and Detroit 2-4, is at San Francisco.

In American League games on Sunday, Oakland, 3-3, is at New York 4-1-1; San Diego, 4-1-1, at Boston, 2-2-1; Miami, 1-5-, at Houston, 2-3; and Kansas City, 4-2, at Denver, 1-5.

If Cleveland is to keep alive its hopes for a repeat as the Eastern Conference champions, the Browns must stop Olympic champion Bob Hayes. St. Louis did it last week, limiting him to three catches for 24 yards and breaking a string of seven straight games in which he had scored a touchdown.

"He's next to impossible to cover," said St. Louis defensive back Abe Woodson, who did the next-to-impossible. "All I tried to do was destroy his patterns. Only the fact that our pass rush hurried the quarterback saved me a couple of times."

The Browns will need the same sort of rush to stop Don Meredith, second in the league in passing, while Dallas' good defense will be tested in the running of Ernie Green and Leroy Kelly.

The St. Louis pass defense is in for another workout at Washington, with Sonny Jurgensen and Bobby Mitchell posing the problems. Mitchell leads the league with 28 receptions. The Cards had to rally for 17 points in the fourth quarter to beat Washington a month ago.

The Packers lead the league in total defense and passino defense and look for little trouble from the Falcons, still without a victory in their first season. Donnie Anderson and Jim Grabowski may expect to get some work as subs for Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor.

The Minnesota-Baltimore game shapes up as a battle between Johnny Unitas and Fran Tarkenton. Unitas was 18 of 27 for 218 yards and four touchdowns, while Tarkenton was 21 vor 37 and 327 yards and three touchdowns last week in the Vikings' first victory. He may find the Colt defense a little tough.

Philadelphia and New York will be playing for the second time this year, the Eagles taking the first one 35-17. The Giants scored their first victory last week and the Eagles won after two straight losses.

San Francisco has won two straight while the Lions are having their troubles. The winner goes ahead in all-time series now tied at 16-1-1.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. — AP — Two sheriff's deputies got their man here recently but managed to lose their car in the process.

The officers left their car in front of a nightclub when they went inside to question a man. He ran through the back door and they followed. Meanwhile, a crowd assembled in front of the club and made off with the car.

Wichita Hopes for and Upset

By ED SHEARER
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Wichita State stakes its hopes for an upset victory over Arkansas tonight on the passing arm of quarterback John Eckman.

The Wheatshockers, fighting off influenza and injuries, aren't expected to give the Razorbacks much trouble. The Porkers are 28-point favorites.

Eckman has lofted 187 passes in four games, completing 64 for 709 yards and three touchdowns. He's had 18 passes intercepted and it was the Razorback pass defense that picked off a pair of Texas passes in the final quarter last week to give Arkansas a 12-7 triumph.

Eckman's key targets have been Glenn Meltzer with 28 catches for 337 yards and Bob Wilson with 22 receptions for 275 yards.

The Wheatshockers are winless after four games and have never defeated Arkansas in four previous matches. In fact, Wichita's only touchdown came in the first meeting when Arkansas posted a 12-6 triumph at Fayetteville in 1904.

The Razorbacks will counter with a tenacious defense led by All-America tackle Loyd Phillips and an offense headed by quarterback Jon Brittenum, who has connected on 39 of 81 passes for 553 yards and five touchdowns.

A crowd of 45,000 is expected for the 7:30 p.m. kickoff in War Memorial Stadium. The Weather Bureau has forecast partly cloudy to cloudy sky conditions with a slight chance of showers.

BUFFALO, N.Y. — (NEA) — Lance Alworth has learned to live in a crowd and like it. He has no choice.

The slick, fleet flanker of the San Diego Chargers can't venture into that no man's land which lies on the other side of the line of scrimmage without picking up a personal escort of one, two and sometimes three men. They watch over him as zealously as a duenna on the beach at Majorca — and with the same idea of warding off passes.

Still, Lance has managed to nab 31 in the first six games of the season, more than anybody else in the American Football League (or the NFL, too, for that matter).

"I'm seeing quite a bit of double coverage," admits Lance. "The corner backs (his assigned guardians) are dropping off real fast rather than going ahead and playing their regular pass defense. What I found out is that I can't get deep very well, but I can run all the short, medium and out patterns that I want to. So even though they're taking something away, they're giving something."

Translated, that means that the defensive backs in the AFL, isolated with him out on the flank, are so wary of his ability to run past them, that they're hanging back rather than playing up on his nose. As a result, Alworth has to run square-outs and quick slant-ins, all of them virtually foolproof receptions if quarterback John Hadl gets the ball to him in good shape.

So while he hasn't been able to take off on a "fly" a straight sprint down the field, he's still catching the ball at the most productive rate of his five-year career as a pro with the Chargers.

Bambi, as the other Chargers call him, is prize exhibit No. 1 when the AFL starts taking parity with the other league. Maybe Bob Hayes of the Dallas Cowboys runs faster, but Lance exceeds him in experience, moves and the ability to jump for the ball. Anyhow, Johnny Sample is convinced.

Sample is the veteran corner back of the New York Jets who just got finished spending eight years tagging after the great receivers in the NFL. One night's exposure to Alworth recently revised Sample's private list of receivers he could do without. Lance joined Kyle Rote, the old Giant mover, and Lenny Moore of the Colts at the top.

"He said he was going to cover me deep," smiles Lance, "and I guarantee you he covered me deep because he was so far back I could never get up to him. It was ridiculous. The other backs in the league have never given me that much room."

So Alworth caught 10 passes that one game for 149 yards. End of duel.

The way offensive football is evolving, with floods and spreads and triple wings, all designed to put pressure on the defense from sideline to sideline, the threat of the man out on the flank becomes paramount to a good attack.

This may not be obvious at first glance, since Alworth catches only five passes a game out of an average of 65 plays run from scrimmage, and the rest of the time looks like he's standing around idle with hands on hips. Yet when he has the intrinsic ability to bust loose for a touchdown on a play, as Alworth does, the influence on the defense is abnormal and opens up other facets of a team's attack.

They have honored him with double coverage, using the strong side safety to watch him on inside breaks. This often isolates a linebacker with another receiver — either a back or the tight end — and it takes an exceptional secondary — in any combination of one, two or three men — to keep up with Alworth.

I won't exactly starve. "It could have been nice, though," he said, grimacing again as he lifted his left out of the water, "if only it hadn't happened."

Frederickson Eyes the Future

By DAVE BURGIN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Each day that Tucker Frederickson walks into Yankee Stadium to take a dip in the whirlpool machine, the huzzahs and "Hiya Tucker" greetings are fewer.

They are replaced by nods or nothing as reporters, back-patters and endorsement sellers steer around Frederickson to some other player who's out there shining every Sunday.

"I don't blame them, though," Frederickson said, drawing his breath through clenched teeth as he eased his left leg into the metal vat of whirling hot water.

"I just think it's kind of funny, that's all. One day they can't do enough for you — bound you to death practice — and the next day they look at you as though you're about ready to be carried out in a pine box."

It is possible Tucker Frederickson may never play football again. He has a foot-ball knee, injured and then re-injured in the New York Giants' preseason games.

operation, Frederickson hobbles into the locker room daily for his treatment. An eight-inch surgical scar snakes down the front of the knee. Another slightly purpled scar on the left side of the knee makes anyone seeing it for the first time wince. The knee is swollen twice the size of the other one.

It will be months before he can run fast again. That's for certain. Whether he'll be able to execute the sharp cuts on runs and pass patterns that a professional back is called upon to do is a matter of medical conjecture.

"The doctors think I can make it," Frederickson said. "If they thought I was through, I don't think the Giants would be spending this kind of money for medical treatment."

"So don't say my knee looks TOO bad. At least, don't make it seem hopeless, because it isn't."

Many close to the Giant seem to think the chances of Frederickson's ever realizing his once great potential are slim. That knee, which went limp the second time while Frederickson was running a simple pass pattern, makes him highly vulnerable in a game where weakness is sold dom pitted. Frederickson these days receives fewer invitations to social events. The gang of endorsement sellers he once referred to as his lawyer-manager each week is gone.

Those Giant fans who buy out Yankee Stadium every year are without a glamor boy. For years it was Frank Gifford, who had the good looks and the charm to go with plenty of talent on the football field.

Frederickson took only one season, his rookie year, to move into Gifford's role. He had the handsome face under blond locks and he could carry a football.

He was also paid well to model men's fashions for magazines and newspapers. New York's other glamor boy, Joe Namath, was coming in second.

"I don't see anything wrong with it," Frederickson said. "To be honest, this is one of the reasons I wanted to play in New York. The glamor. I don't feel I've taken advantage of it. It was just good business."

"If it happens that I don't play again, I might go back to Auburn or some other school to become a dentist or a veterinarian. It wouldn't break me up emotionally and

Re: Second University —

Arkansas State College, which now has a lot of momentum going for it, will have a golden opportunity to gain university status when the 1967 Arkansas Legislature convenes in January. The fast-growing Jonesboro institution almost made the grade in 1959 when a bill pushing ASTC for a university was approved in the senate but fell short of the majority of 51 needed in the house.

At that time, the university bill for ASC was stopped by the University of Arkansas and its strong legislative alumni segment. But the situation has changed since then, and the opposition may not be so formidable the next time around.

Earlier this year, the University of Arkansas student newspaper surprisingly published an editorial calling for university status for Arkansas State. Furthermore, there are reliable reports circulating that some university officials are ready to see Arkansas State elevated—out of fear of seeing their own university split and carried off to Little Rock.

Then, too, East Arkansas through reapportionment, has picked up new voting strength in both houses and will be in a stronger position to push a university status bill to passage.

Arkansas not only needs a second university, it can now finance a second university.—Paul Buchanan in Batesville Guard

Few Believe Romney Can Be Beaten

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Democrats aren't saying so publicly, but few believe Gov. George Romney can be beaten in his bid for a third term.

Their goal is to whittle Romney's margin to less than the 383,000-vote plurality he rolled up two years ago—and take the sheen off Romney-for-president talk.

That 1964 victory for Republican Romney came amid a Democratic landslide that won control of the legislature and a majority of Michigan's congressional delegation.

If Romney has White House ambitions—and most everybody believes he has—his standing at the 1968 Republican nominating convention would be considerably enhanced if he could score another big victory, and also carry some Republicans into office on his coattails.

More and more, Romney is ignoring his opponent, Democratic State Chairman Zoltan Ferency, and working harder to help Sen. Robert P. Griffin against the formidable challenge of former Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Democrats, on the other hand, have kept the heavy artillery rolling in—including party-boasting visits by President Johnson, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Sen. Edw. F. Kennedy of Massachusetts. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York is expected to visit Michigan before the Nov. 8 balloting.

Republicans countered with appearances by Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania and Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky. Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon also has scheduled a Michigan stop.

But a poll taken by an independent research group for the Detroit News indicates Griffin leads Williams, a six-term governor, 51 to 46 per cent.

The poll apparently reflects Romney's work for Griffin, and the fact that Williams was sidelined for five weeks by a kidney stone operation. Romney, incidentally, led Ferency in the poll 61 to 33.

Ferency, a witty and articulate campaigner who claims he wishes the role of underdog, has kept up a dawn-to-midnight schedule of handshaking and speechmaking, aimed largely at Michigan's big union vote.

On the big national issues—Viet Nam, education, civil rights—Williams and Griffin are far apart. So the campaigning has centered on the personalities.

DENVER IS a lonesome old town as far as supermarket checker Ann Parris is concerned. Ann, and a lot of other checkers, were left with little to do when 100,000 Denver housewives boycotted five food chains Oct. 17. As might be expected, the women are protesting the high price of groceries.

It's Possible That U. S. Women Will Start Smoking Cigars

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Are American women about to take up cigar smoking as a major fad?

It is within the realm of possibility. And, to no surprise, the ones most against the trend are veteran male cigar smokers.

"There is no doubt that women are buying more cigars," said one tobacconist, "but as for it becoming a general habit among them—well, I'm not so sure."

But a mail order tobacco firm estimates that perhaps one out of a hundred cigars it sells are bought by women for their own use.

The number of public feminine cigar smokers is still small. But the number of women, particularly career women, who enjoy a stogie in the privacy of their apartments is believed by industry figures to be growing steadily.

Cigar smoking among women, of course, is nothing new. It is fairly common in several European countries, notably Denmark. Anna Magnani, the Italian actress, habitually carries a tin of small Swiss-made cigars.

The most famous American woman cigar smokers probably were the late New England poetess, Amy Lowell, and "Poker Alice," the notorious belle of saloon society in Western frontier days.

As married men have found out, many wives like to share a few puffs of their after dinner stogies. They like the aroma, even though they may complain later that it stinks up the draperies.

The main argument against women smoking cigars in the past has been that it wasn't genteel. It was thought that a lady only made herself look ridiculous.

There is strong masculine resistance, particularly among long-time cigar lovers.

In an informal poll, they gave these reasons: "Women who smoke cigars are equal rights nuts. They're like apes. Anything men do they try to imitate."

"Cigars are too good for women. Women don't deserve them."

Only reason a woman smokes anyway is to show off. She'd be just as happy if she were smoking parsley or asparagus."

Well, that's the situation. How about it, ladies? Would you care to adjourn to the living room for a cigar while we fellows clear up the dishes?

Ex-assistant to Johnson Honored

BARCELONA, Spain (AP) — The 1966 Kennedy prize of the Barcelona Institute of American Studies has gone to Pablo Casals, 89, the cellist.

The prize, in memory of President John F. Kennedy, was announced in Barcelona Wednesday. It goes to either a Spaniard or an American whose public activity is in the spirit of the late president.

Space Test Due for Next Tuesday

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The space agency today announced plans to launch an Atlas-Centaur space rocket next Tuesday to fully qualify it for lunar and planetary flights.

The launching is one of two space missions scheduled from Cape Kennedy next week. Earlier, the Communications Satellite Corp. announced plans to launch a satellite on Wednesday to extend commercial communications coverage via space to the Far East.

The Atlas-Centaur launching is set for 5:30 a.m. EST Tuesday, the communications satellite for 6 p.m. Wednesday.

An attempt will be made to place the Centaur second stage in orbit and then restart its two hydrogen-powered engines. If successful, the rocket will hurl a dummy model of a Project Surveyor spacecraft toward an imaginary moon — a spot in space 236,000 miles away from the earth.

Two previous attempts failed to re-light the Centaur engines in space. Engineering changes have been made to correct the problems.

The Atlas-Centaur performed perfectly twice earlier this year in propelling the Surveyor 1 and 2 spacecraft toward the moon.

Those were direct-ascent shots that required only one ignition of the Centaur engines. With the capability of a second ignition, the Centaur stage would be able to enter a parking orbit and at the desired time and place, refire its powerplant to send the spacecraft toward the moon or planets.

"The earth orbit capability will significantly enhance the flexibility of Centaur in support of lunar and planetary missions by increasing the period of time in which these launches can be made," the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said — in some instances widening the periods from minutes to hours.

The Air Force now tells persons or organizations wishing to donate food and clothing for overseas flights to Vietnamese refugees to check with the Agency for International Development, which runs some emergency relief programs.

For those who want to send food to U.S. servicemen in Viet Nam, the Air Force advises them to use the mails.

"Cookies can scarcely be considered an essential item," one source said. "The boys can buy them in the PX."

Ozark Merger Hearing Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Civil Aeronautics Board examiner set Nov. 21 for a hearing on a proposal to merge Ozark and Central air lines during a brief pre-hearing conference here Monday.

There was no indication of opposition to the merger during discussions by representatives of interested parties, including other airlines and labor unions.

Reception in Sydney Marred for Johnson

By FRANK CORMIER
BRISBANE, Australia (AP) — President Johnson began the last leg of his Australian tour tonight, appearing weary and strained after his wild reception in Sydney was marred by new anti-Viet Nam demonstrations.

The President and Mrs. Johnson arrived in Brisbane, capital of the northern state of Queensland, to spend the night. They were met by an airport crowd of about 6,000.

More than a million excited Australians turned out in Sydney to greet the Americans. The crowds showered the Johnsons with confetti as anti-Viet Nam demonstrators hurled eggs and toilet paper in a tumultuous mixed welcome.

Johnson returned to Canberra, the Australian capital, for a barbecue before flying on to Johnson Western clothes and a Texas hat at the barbecue but changed to a business suit for the Canberra farewell, held in blindingly cold weather.

The President looked tired as he inspected an honor guard while a 21-gun salute boomed. Johnson drove directly to Fairbairn Airport outside Canberra after attending the barbecue at Lanyon Station 17 miles away. The cookout was given by an old friend, Edward Clark, the U.S. ambassador to Australia.

At the 10,000-acre ranch, Johnson met an Australian soldier recently returned from service in Viet Nam. The soldier presented the President with an Australian digger's slouch hat.

There were no demonstrators in sight as Johnson departed Canberra after an official farewell from Gov.-Gen. Lord Casey.

Many Are Thankful for Avalanche in Wales Kills 107 Children

There is a group of people which thrives simply because it fills a human need. It has no connection with any sect, denomination, politics, organization or institution. Its members do not wish to engage in any controversy and neither endorse nor oppose any causes. There are no dues, very little official organization, and no membership recruitment.

What, you may ask, does such a group do and for what purpose? It is a fellowship of men and women who share their experience, strength and hope with each other that they may solve their common problem and help others to recover from alcoholism. Yes, we are speaking of Alcoholics Anonymous or AA, as it is more familiarly known.

Some of the most inspirational literature found anywhere is written by and for members of this fellowship and for anyone interested in it. After reading some of this material, we have no doubt about the reason for the success of the AA program. You, too, can understand better when you read "Alcoholics Anonymous," "Al-Anon Faces Alcoholism," and "Living With An Alcoholic," all to be found in the Hempstead-Nevada Regional Library.

For perhaps 20 years the word "alcoholic" has replaced "drunk" in the average American vocabulary to denote a person suffering from a disease called alcoholism. A movie, "The Lost Weekend," was a big factor in bringing this ailment into its proper perspective, and two men, Bill W. and Dr. Bob S., were responsible for the founding of the world-wide group called Alcoholics Anonymous.

In more recent years companion groups, Al-Anon and Alateen, have been formed for the families and friends of alcoholics. These stress self-examination for the sober ones, who, like the alcoholics, should seek to find serenity for themselves. "We humans see in the other fellow's failings reflections of our own" are words that stand as a warning sign to the families and friends of AAs.

Anonymity of the members is carried out at the general public level as the chief protection for the group. It has been proved that 100 per cent personal anonymity before the public is just as vital to the life of AAs 100 per cent sobriety is to the life of each and every member. If that is the case, may we respect their wishes.

We human beings are all afflicted with shortcomings of one kind or another and could benefit by echoing the prayer of serenity which is spoken by AAs everywhere, "God grant me the Serenity to accept the things I cannot change, Courage to change the things I can, and Wisdom to know the difference."

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — A South Korean soldier was killed and another kidnapped by North Korean soldiers last weekend in the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea, the United Nations Command charged today.

The Communist soldiers launched a "well-prepared, deliberate attack" in broad daylight in the southern half of the 2½-mile-wide truce zone, U.S. Marine Maj. Gen. Joseph O. Butcher told a meeting of the joint Military Armistice Commission.

North Korean Maj. Gen. Park Chung-kook denied the attack, according to Park, of a "false charge."

Complains Work on Road Is a Waste

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Dr. George B. Bean of Little Rock complained to the state Highway Department Thursday that improvement to a dead-end section of Arkansas 210 was a "waste of public money."

"This is not a matter of politics with me," Bean said. "This is a waste of the taxpayers' money. I'm a taxpayer who decided to complain."

Bean, a Little Rock osteopath, asked the department whether a subdivision at the end of the road to the state in adding the road to the state system last year and in having it improved this year.

Bean said subdivision is wholly or partly owned by the father-in-law of Highway Commissioner Maurice Smith Jr. of Birdeye. He identified the in-law as Thomas Murray.

Bean said Arkansas 210 extends for eight-tenths of a mile from Arkansas 25 near Heber Springs. He said the road was at the boundary of an easement around the Greers Ferry Reservoir and that the lake could not be reached from the highway.

The Highway Department also has no title to the right of way, Bean said.

A district highway official at Batesville said the road was not being rebuilt, that only routine maintenance was being done.

Henry Gray, chief of the Right of Way Division, said Bean had complained about work crews cutting into his land and moving a culvert to improve the road.

Gray said he did not know why the road was taken into the state system, but that it may be one of many roads bordering the reservoir which were added to the system to provide easy public access to the water along as much of the shoreline as possible.

He discounted Bean's intimation that special influence had been involved at any stage of the project.

Pemberton said the crop, valued at about $30,000, wasn't there when he drove to the farm Wednesday.

There were reports Thursday night that the Africans had agreed to drop the idea of an immediate takeover but that the final word still under discussion.

The sponsors are believed to have the support to secure adoption of their resolution in its toughly worded form. But they are anxious to have the backing of the Western nations, particularly the United States.

The South Africans have warned that they will not accept a U.N. administering authority and will "use whatever means necessary" to resist takeover of the territory.

The resolution was drawn up after the World Court threw out on a legal technicality the black African charge that South Africa had violated its mandate by introducing apartheid (race segregation) in South-West Africa.

By GRANVILLE J. WATTS
ABERFAN, Wales (AP) —

The threat of a new avalanche hung over this tiny Welsh village today as thousands of rescue workers probed oozing coal sludge for possible survivors buried when half of an 800-foot mountain of coal waste crashed into the town.

The remainder of the man-made, cone-shaped slag heap that engulfed a school and at least 14 homes Friday was still moving.

If it slipped, the diggers would be directly in its path.

Officials said 107 bodies have been recovered, 100 of them children. It was feared the death toll would reach 200.

The district education director, John Beale, said 36 children who survived had been hospitalized and that another 88 had escaped when the disaster struck.

"It is a fight against time," said a civil defense spokesman. "The slag heap at the back of the school is still moving."

"David was clutching the five little children in his arms as if to protect them," said the miner who found them. "He and the five children died clutching each other." The miner then lapsed into shock.

Rescue workers, some up to their knees in sludge, carefully picked through the debris of the buried schoolrooms. The slag was emptied onto the streets where giant yellow earth-moving machines loaded it onto dump trucks.

Africans Hold Up Action on Mandate

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Fearful of losing U.S. support, 54 Asian-African nations held up action today on a resolution calling for the U.N. to take over South Africa's mandate over South-West Africa at once.

The General Assembly was to have voted today on the resolution, but the sponsors asked for a delay, reportedly because the United States objected to the strong wording of the proposal.

The resolution would have the United Nations take over the old League of Nations mandate immediately and set up a U.N. administering authority to prepare the territory for independence.

It also would call on the Security Council to enforce the assembly's decisions by mandatory sanctions if necessary.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg and Hans Tabor, chief delegate of Denmark, have been consulting with Ambassador F.S. Arkhurst of Ghana, representing the sponsors, in an attempt to modify the resolution.

The United States and other Western nations want the Asian-Africans to agree to the naming of a committee to study how the territory should be administered.

There were reports Thursday night that the Africans had agreed to drop the idea of an immediate takeover but that the final word still under discussion.
